

Top photo: Luul is doing her clinical internship at one of Kenya's top maternal health teaching hospitals.

Bottom photo: Kakuma Refugee Camp health facility

NUTRITION MAJOR ON A MISSION TO SAVE LIVES IN KAKUMA REFUGEE CAMP

“Nutrition problems are very serious in the camp and especially harm women and children. Proper nutrition and education in the camp could prevent so many health problems. This scholarship has given me the chance to study outside the camp at the best college and hospital in Kenya.

I will be one of a handful of qualified nutritionists in the Kakuma refugee camp and the only one who was born and raised there! I feel proud to be among those who stand with society and solve nutrition problems in proper ways.”

-Luul

Happy holidays dear friends!

All of us here at Refugees In Schools are so very grateful to you, our supporters, who are making the dreams of our young refugee students come true. It's incredible to see firsthand what a life changing opportunity this is. We simply couldn't send refugees to high school and college without your donations.

For all who donated in 2023, we thank you with all our hearts. Please keep investing in these amazing young people who will truly change the world and save lives in their very own communities. Education is truly the greatest gift we can give humanity.

From all of us here in Kenya we are wishing you a very Happy Holidays!

RIS students go on first ever field trips!

Santino (in white shirt) attends high school in the Rift Valley on a RIS scholarship. This term he went on his first ever field trip to Lake Naivasha. He is excelling in all subjects and has made good friends (clearly)!

Sandra visiting historical sites with her school. Sandra is entering her senior year and will be our first high school grad!